Aim of the meeting:

The main goal of the conference is to create new opportunities to share experiences and information related to the prevention of juvenile delinquency. This concerns the update and exchange of ideas and good practices, thus increasing the involvement of the different agents working in this area, and facilitating the identification of minors who are suffering from social exclusion.

The conference will show the results of ITER, EU-funded project under the Programme of Security and Safeguarding Liberties - Prevention and fight against crime. ITER is a good example of creating a connected network to foster the cooperation of all the parties involved in preventing delinquency and juvenile violence. This conference has been organised within the framework of the European Year Against Poverty and Social Exclusion 2010.
